

HOW TO LOUNGE THIS WEEKEND

mint

04 SAT, 23 MARCH 2019 NEW DELHI

Source

Holi may be gone, but we are still soaking in the season's headiest colours

LOCAL SPEAKER
Leon Ballé Bluetooth Speaker
Designed by José Levy, this rugged speaker is portable, runs on USB power and has a frequency range of 150Hz to 18kHz. Perfect for travel and the outdoors. Available on levyspeakers.com, ₹8,000

NEW WEAVE
The Peach by Badgley Mischka
Creative director for Daniel Lee reinterprets the Italian luxury house's iconic, retro-chic weave in an oversized leather clutch. Available in shades of green, pink and red, and plain styles. Available at Badgley Mischka stores, price on request

MY ARTING BY THE CROCKERY HUT
Drawing from the palettes of artists like Piet Mondrian, Andy Warhol, Vincent van Gogh and Mark Rothko, these striped mugs promise to be morning mood lifters. Available on TheCrockeryHut.com, ₹1,500 per piece

SPRING DRAPE
Raw Mango Wadhwa chanderi saris
Evoking the colours of spring, and the texture of silk, Raw Mango's new handloom saris evoke the label's perennial love for colours. Available at Raw Mango stores in Mumbai, Bengaluru and Delhi, ₹10,000 onwards

ON THE WATCH
Maverick Power Reserve watch by Carl F. Bucherer
The Maverick is a classic, and available in plenty of understated options. But the power reserve of the Power Reserve still adds a bright spot on these refined timepieces. Available on Etherealwatch.com, ₹132,600

FEELING BLUE
Donna Karonella Yves Klein Blue Vase by Stefania Bonetti
Creative, colorful Stefania Bonetti recreates the elements of a Sicilian blue vase with a gold leaf highlight. Available on artemest.com, ₹2,300 (around ₹73,000)

COUCH SURFING
Fanusta Chester Sofa
In a head-turning fuchsia hue, this sofa is upholstered with luxuriously comfortable cushioning. Being a couch potato can't get cosier. Available at Fanusta flagship store, Jaipur and Fanusta.com, ₹37,000

STREAM OF STORIES
RAJA SEN

'Chowkidars' of comedy

A still from the Indian sitcom episode of Hasan Minhaj's series 'Pantipati'.

T have not read television with "In Education, India's most revered television series are few - Ranish Kumar's NDTV - regard us not to watch the news. "The television screen, and especially news, is a watching television," he said in Hindi, at an event organised by series creator The Wire. The two-month, stop-starting. This is the last year, and the second season is expected to be a full-on comedy.

These segments were insightful even to us, watching from India. Other award-winning international stars for a series are those, and Hasan had set up an investigation as a role being conducted in India. Minhaj follows a different analysis. He is an Indian-American speaking primarily to his young diaspora in America, questioning their parents' political allegiances. This is an attempt to get out of the news-obsessed state, the fact that India currently faces, to the people and the political system. Yagnik says it is about whether India can create India.

Style has a new address

From e-commerce to brick-and-mortar, Pernis's Pop-Up opened its fifth studio in Mumbai last week. The multi-designer brand has been expanding across India, with plans in place for London, New York and Dubai this year. The latest outpost has two levels dedicated to couture and new collaborations by premium Indian designers such as Priyanka Badya and Manish. Also keep an eye out for their summer specials - at Pernis Pop-Up Studio is located in Bandra West, Mumbai

Looking for Ram

Had I been Indian, I wouldn't have been able to do this," says Yagnik Yagnik in his debut solo exhibition in India, at MIRA OF THE SOUTH, at the Pans Contemporary gallery. Yagnik's work is a reflection of the Karnataka over a series of part book series, and a selection of these photographs are on display at the gallery. He has travelled across the country - from Andhra Pradesh to Rajasthan - to make these photographs, shooting in large and medium formats. Yagnik's work is a reflection of the Karnataka over a series of part book series, and a selection of these photographs are on display at the gallery. He has travelled across the country - from Andhra Pradesh to Rajasthan - to make these photographs, shooting in large and medium formats. Yagnik's work is a reflection of the Karnataka over a series of part book series, and a selection of these photographs are on display at the gallery.

Sweet tooth and high spirits

One can resist the appeal of mithai, what happens when it's soaked in whisky or infused with beer is another story altogether. At Nihira and Co., a Goa-based brand, the mother-daughter duo Subha and Anshu Agarwal, mithai and cocktails get a makeover. Their Pan-Asian menu has Pan, Choco-choco, and the highlight - alcoholic kokeshi. Try

STATE OF THE ART

State of the art is a reference to what is still in use. Raja Sen is a film critic and the author of The Book of The World (2017), a history of Indian cinema. He is also the author of The Book of The World (2017), a history of Indian cinema. He is also the author of The Book of The World (2017), a history of Indian cinema.

POP UP

Pet's day out
Bengaluru-based events company StepOut is organising a pet festival this weekend with gourmet food stalls for humans and canines, mobile pet grooming services, workshops on pet behaviour and training, and pools for puppies to splash around in. The festival will be held on the grounds of the heritage

COUCH SURFING
Fanusta Chester Sofa
In a head-turning fuchsia hue, this sofa is upholstered with luxuriously comfortable cushioning. Being a couch potato can't get cosier. Available at Fanusta flagship store, Jaipur and Fanusta.com, ₹37,000