

OTTIMO

Italian luxury brand Cipriani Homood which is available in India through Ottimo recently unveiled the Dragonfly collection which is inspired by the magical insect that signifies transformation. Dragonfly embodies winds of change, the messages of wisdom and enlightenment, and the communications from the elemental world. The humble dragonfly becomes an elegant motif in this collection comprising furniture, furnishings and wallpapers, setting you to think of the essence of this winged beauty. The collection encompasses veneers with engraved design, embossed nabuk, dragonfly metal jewels for installing on furniture, dragonfly motifs on wallpapers, and dragonfly embroidery on furnishing textiles.

MAGNOLIA

Magnolia has introduced a collection of handcrafted cane furniture which takes inspiration from both, the Art Deco era as well as the mid-century modern times. The line-up includes the Quint chairs which stand apart with handcrafted cane work on the back and an upholstered seat. The Sage sofa bench is designed to be light yet comfortable. Creating pieces for the bedroom, cane comes alive with the Cumin Bed. With a straight line design and a vintage twist with the legs of the bed, it showcases double sided cane-work on the headboard as well as the footboard. To further create complimentary pieces of the collection, the Cumin wardrobe follows in queue, by featuring cane work on the panels, sandwiched in glass, lending a practical yet classic touch.

FANUSTA

Artisanal home brand, Fanusta has introduced an exquisite range of home textiles called Print Portrait. The range is crafted in fine cotton yarn and hand-printed through a screen. The subtle themed line of linens is imprinted with familiar seeming patterns and motifs that obtain inspiration from everyday views outside the window of the designer's desk. Through the language of florals, circles, geometrics and more, the beauty of mundane objects living or man-made is celebrated and captured into simple, acquainted yet intriguing designs. Each illustration is carefully transported onto soothing and serene white cottons by chippai's of Bagru using a hand screen. The fabrics once created are then finished in Sanganer, through precise hand-stitching and constructed into an array of bed and home linens — beddings, quilts, pillow and cushion covers, table mats and runners.
